Advent is here. Let your face shine upon us, and we shall be saved. (Psalm 80:7) If you look at the readings for the first Sunday of Advent there is a mixture of acknowledgement of wrongdoing and asking for God's forgiveness. We also ask for encouragement to not let terrible things happening around us frighten us out of the hope that we have in Jesus. Paul affirms that it is God's grace that gives us the strength to endure and prepare for the revelation of Christ in and around us until that final day when all things will come to an end, and everything will be new and eternally good.

One of the themes of Advent is to keep awake. I was reading the words of Mark's gospel assigned for Advent 1 and once again got inspired by the line: Heaven and earth will pass away but my words will not pass away. Luther reminds us in the hymn "A mighty fortress is our God" that God's Word forever shall abide. In light of the keeping awake theme, I thought of God's word as an espresso shot (my apologies to the non-coffee drinkers). The Word helps us to stay alert. Mainly the idea is to discover Christ among us and follow His invitation to spread hope through our actions. Many of you participate in some kind of charity during this month, whether it is a Christmas present for a child that otherwise would have none, a warm meal for a senior, a card to someone who might be lonely or anything else you can think of. The Word always wants to lead you to believe that what you do matters and makes a difference and doesn't go unnoticed. So, take a little shot of that grace and mix it with lots of love and share it. That is what Christ is hoping for all of us.

As every year there are the typical holiday decorations that can help spread some cheer and encouragement. I like to think of these decorations as cheerleaders for us. While there are many things in this world that make us sad, mad, or questioning, if those reminders lead us back to the Word and the power of transformative love, we already have taken part in the Keep Awake movement of the spirit. Often, we need a little encouragement and if the ornaments and decorations don't do it you can read it in the words of scripture. God is letting his face shine upon us despite all the wrong around us and the wrong inside of us. When you see God's face of love you will become a believer (if you are now humming the Monkees song or feel compelled to put Shrek into your video player, I certainly won't keep you.) But if you feel like lighting a candle and pondering and praying over the Word that just won't go away and won't leave you alone, that is great too.

One of the best things about the church is that we don't have to do it alone. First, there is Christ who takes the first step with us, but then there is also the community of believers who are going through this life by carrying one another, upholding one another, and encouraging one another. When Paul speaks of grace, he always plants it strongly in the community and talks about how this grace is at work, was at work, and will be at work in the future. When we come together as a church in Advent, we light additional candles on the advent wreath to mark the passage of time but also to be reminded of God's presence in our lives as individuals and as a community. I saw the movement of the spirit in a recent service where a child was asked to lead a prayer and responded by asking for a prayer for family in the congregation that recently had lost a loved one. This is what we do, and I am so thankful for so much love.

The Advent and Christmas season are usually pretty busy and hectic. But my prayer is that we find time to sit down and sit with the word and with each other. The Word can come through the actual words of scripture heard in the service or read on your own or with others. It also can come through singing, whether by the fireplace, in a church pew, or on your couch or on your way to work. Keeping awake means to be touched by the word and to share the love that you see.

Highlights for December, besides the obvious Christmas Eve services on December 24 include carols around the fireplace, special choir music on Advent 2 and our celebration of Santa Lucia on Advent 3. For those that like a little treat and also want to spread some love to people in need there will be the annual cookie sale on December 17.

On December 9, we will once again host the Pages to Pirouettes production of The Nutcracker, a truly intergenerational experience on stage and in the audience with an ice cream social to follow.

With much love and a large pot of coffee,

Pastor Henrik

Advent is one of my favorite times of the worship calendar, simply because it prepares us, as Lutherans, to rise above the cold and dark to instead feast our eyes on the spectacular views of stars, moons, and planets with which God freely gifts us with and to await with hope for the coming of the Star that will lead to Bethlehem.

While I treasure the joy we will find together in Advent, I can't help but sometimes experience the melancholy of the climate.

The climate of the changing weather, combined with the climate of suffering and sadness I see in the world.

Within these encroaching arctic winds, I am thankful for the warming solace I find within Scripture.

In my continued quest to read the entire NRSV Bible cover to cover, I encountered a prayer from the Book of Daniel I had never read or heard of before.

This prayer of praise, in Daniel 2:20b-23a, was made by Daniel after he was given vision by God to interpret the dreams of the Babylonian King Nebuchadnezzar.

- ²⁰ “Blessed be the name of God from age to age, for wisdom and power are his.
- ²¹ He changes times and seasons, deposes kings and sets up kings;
he gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who have understanding.
- ²² He reveals deep and hidden things;
he knows what is in the darkness,
and light dwells with him.
- ²³ To you, O God of my ancestors,
I give thanks and praise,
for you have given me wisdom and power...”

I've felt strengthened by this proclamation of joy, especially since it comes from Daniel who as a captive exile in the court of Babylon should have very little reason to rejoice. Yet in the dark days to come, I can see this prayer continuing to give me peace.

Verses 20 and 21 remind me that God, my Holy Trinity revealed through Jesus Christ, is in all time and space and season. Therefore the Trinity is always revolving around me whatever the path I take, and I will feel warmed in spirit.

Verse 22 is symbolic for Advent. Not simply a waiting room for Christmas, Advent is a time to rejoicing together as a community under the bright stars in defiance of the cold and dark, both for the coming of Jesus and for the great love God brings.

Finally there is verse 23. Here comes the great symbolic interpretation I have of the Trinity, as a revolving wheel of light that has spun love for my ancestors and still gives me the same. All this done freely, for me, for us all.

As I contemplate this hopeful prayer during the start of Advent, I also consider a picture I took of the moon during Thanksgiving. The light from the moon somehow cut through the cloud cover, making it appear as if there was an eye in the sky. Consider the eye of our Triune God as it watches over us all, I pray it watches over all your family and friends, over all those in pain, who face discrimination born of hate and anger, over the houseless and cold, over victims of war, and most of all for you. May our prayers of praise cut through the pain of the world, and bring us warmth as we await the Star of Bethlehem. Amen

Special Music for December

MY PERFECT STRANGER by Bob Chilcott

Sunday, December 10, 2023 for both the 8:00 and 10:30 worship services.

The St. Paul's Chancel Choir will present a special music offering for worship on Sunday, December 10th. Bob Chilcott's My Perfect

Stranger is a three-movement work with harp accompaniment.

My Perfect Stranger was inspired by the children's book How Many Miles to Bethlehem? which was given to the British composer Bob Chilcott by his friend Kevin Crossley-Holland. Chilcott was asked to write a Christmas piece for the BBC Singers and decided to use the text of this story. This he punctuated by inserting the Christmas choral refrain "By by, lully, lullay" – 11 times!

He then asked Kevin to write a text for a Prologue and Epilogue to frame the retelling of the Christmas story. This is the text, especially the Epilogue, that also connects us to the journey, the hope, the promise of Advent. And the question asked, Which role will you choose? What have you to say and sing? should go with us beyond the Christmas season.

This work was premiered by the BBC Radio 3 at Milton Court, London on December 13, 2016, with Bob Chilcott conducting. A copy of the text is printed below. This is a beautiful Advent/Christmas reading and inspiration.

MY PERFECT STRANGER

text: Kevin Crossley-Holland (b. 1941) / music: Bob Chilcott (b. 1955)

Prologue

This is what happens. This is how it begins.
Another census is underway, another round of taxes in Judea:
each man with his wife in his own city,
each of their children, and each baby,
and at no worse time for a queasy virgin and her old husband, a carpenter.

Rough tracks through rocky hills,
sand and shimmer on the Roman road,
they're making slow progress
from Nazareth to Bethlehem.
Mary's son is leaping in her womb,
how eager he is to be born, to be born.

The city's a hellhole.
Seething and shouting.
Stinking passages.
Beggars,
tricksters,
refugees.

My Perfect Stranger

Mary

Quick and slow.
Tight as a drum.
I'm round as lady moon calling to me.
My baby will be born tonight.

Innkeeper

Sorry, mate.
Not a single pallet.
Tell you what!
Your Mary can share a stall with my old ox.

Shepherds

This flock of skylights skipping,
and sky-voices singing,
'The lamb of God will be born in a manger.'

Star

I am tonight's brightest star,
Many-coloured blossoming over Bethlehem.
Follow me, follow me.

Magi

In the East we was you,
a rising, a golden mustard flower,
a scarlet sky anemone.
We will follow you, follow you.

Herod

Who? A king? Born in a stable?
I'll rip him from his mother.
I'll slaughter all the sucklings.

Mary

Little lamb.
My perfect stranger.
I'll wrap you with the swaddling bands and lay you in a manger.
Little Lamb.

Shepherds

Earth's bones rattling.
The sky swaying.
A heck of a journey!
Here's a fleece, Jesus,

this palm fan,
a round of cheese.

Innkeeper

Warden of figs and wild honey.
Kingpin of the lemon groves.
Will you feed and shelter us?

Magi

Our gifts are gold
and frankincense,
bitter myrrh.
Beware now!
Escape from murd'rous King Herod.

Angels

Listen!
We're your secret voices.
With our songs, with our light
we will guide you through the night.

Baby

I am the baby who will cradle the world.
In your heart hold me.
I will love you,
and never, never leave you.

Epilogue

We aim and stray,
we want, we dream.
How can our paths ever be straight?
In light there is always darkness
but in darkness always speck and star and sheen.
Many visions, signs and prophecies meet in this place and in this moment, many ardent prayers guide us
on this wonder-journey.
As in mazy moonlight
to a pool, unblinking, face to face with who we are,
and may become.
In this story there are parts for each of us,
God's creatures,
parts for ev'ryone.
Which role will you choose?
What have you to say and sing?
Dear dust and eternal.

ENJOY A CAROL SING AROUND THE FIREPLACE!

On Sunday, December 3rd at 9:15 a.m. please plan to gather around the fireplace in the Great Room to enjoy singing Christmas Carols! You can select your favorite song to sing with friends while you enjoy the warmth from the fireplace.

SANTA LUCIA PAGEANT ON SUNDAY, DECEMBER 17TH AT THE 10:30 A.M. WORSHIP SERVICE

We will once again celebrate the beautiful story of Santa Lucia, on Sunday, December 11th at the 10:30 AM worship service. This event tells the story of the saint Santa Lucia who was martyred because of her unwavering commitment to her Christian faith. She shared her love without conditions and gave of her time and wealth to the poor. She is connected to both Italy and Sweden, but her story is most special in Sweden. Her final appearance in the pageant has her wearing a crown of lit candles. This is a beautiful image of light and warmth in a time of year full of cold and darkness. The Santa Lucia pageant is a reminder to all of us even today to never hesitate to share our light in times of darkness and despair. This is a powerful service that is told by all the young people of our congregation through costume, dialogue, and song. It is also a wonderful worship experience to share with a neighbor or friend!

Saturday, December 9th at 3:00 P.M. Pages to Pirouettes' Nutcracker. Hear the enchanting story, then see it come to life in a ballet to the beautiful music of Tchaikovsky. Tickets at the door: $10/person; children 3 and under are free (includes ice-cream after the performance)

Stewardship News

It is the season of Advent and we are preparing to receive God's greatest gift to us, Jesus Christ, born to redeem us from our sins. In gratitude, we worship God, we take care of his creation.

Matthew 25 gives us instructions on how to carry out this care and verse 40 sums up what God intends us to do. "And the king will answer them, 'Truly I tell you, just as you did it to one of the least of these who are members of my family you did it to me.'"

Our financial support for the ministry of this congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Glenside enables us to provide space for gathering for worship and salaries for our spiritual leaders, to provide education and fellowship for children and adults, to provide care for those who are hungry, those who are grieving, lonely, in need of comfort ... to care for each other.

On Consecration Sunday, we received pledges and celebrated our congregation's generosity and ministry with a delicious lunch. We are thankful for the 48 pledges totaling $181,892.00 received as of November 25th.

If you have not yet returned your pledge card, it's not too late to send it to the church office or put it in the offering plate. If you do not have the one that was mailed to you, there are additional cards in the back of the church, or you can email or call the office to request another be sent to you. We also have the option to give online by accessing our website stpaulsglenside.org and clicking donate to enter a recurring or one-time gift.

Thank you for your generosity.

GOD'S GLOBAL BARNYARD

An animal can make a world of difference for a family in need. Animals provide food to eat, fertilizer to grow crops and offspring to sell at the market. With a gift to God's Global Barnyard, an ECLA Good Gifts initiative, you can make a difference by helping a family escape the cycle of hunger and poverty.

The ELCA's ministries include training, education, and resources to help communities in nearly 80 countries around the world care for animals and create new market opportunities, like starting a small business by selling eggs, honey, meat, or dairy products.

Choose a gift that means the most to you or give a gift honoring a loved one or friend. A flock of chicks, a hive of bees, a pig, a goat, or a cow are some of the options from which to choose. Your gift will give struggling families hope for a better future.

There are several ways to give -

- Through this congregation ... by placing your gift in the offering plate, by mailing it to St. Paul's, or by donating via St. Paul's website. Please designate your gift as "God's Global Barnyard." (Checks payable to St. Paul's Lutheran Church.)
- Online to ELCA: <https://goodgifts.elca.org/christmas>
- By phone to ELCA: 800-638-3522
- By mail to ELCA: Evangelical Lutheran Church in America
P.O. Box 1809
Merrifield, VA 22116-8009
(Checks payable to Evangelical Lutheran Church in America)

Brochures, order forms, gift cards, etc. will be in the Great Room throughout December.

More information can also be found online at <https://goodgifts.elca.org> and any questions can be directed to Dot Sutton - dsutton222@comcast.net.

Give a gift that shares the Christmas spirit and changes a life! What better and more meaningful way is there to remember and celebrate God's greatest gift to you?

Good Works Team

It's back...

Prior to 2020, our congregation supported fair-trade organic coffee, chocolates, teas, and more. We sold these products on Sunday between services. We served their coffee and teas during our Sunday fellowship hour. Good news, it will be coming back!

These products come from a co-operative called Equal Exchange. Feel free to peruse their website to check out their mission and all their products.–

<https://shop.equalexchange.coop/>

In the meantime, I have ordered some of St. Paul's favorite products (including chocolate that I call a "party in the mouth") to get this ministry re-started. On November 5th, you will see the table setup near the Great Room. We will have a small selection to get started but would be more than willing to order items that you are interested in. The prices will be set to cover the cost and not be inflated to make money.

We will continue to sell each week if the interest is there. These products are so nice that they make great gifts.

See you at the "pop up shop."

RECYCLE YOUR HOLIDAY LIGHTS

Do you have a pile of old holiday lights that are beyond hope? Recycle them! A Better Way Recycling can turn them into roofing and construction materials, piping, car batteries, other electronics, lead wheel weights, flatware, jewelry and more. Here's what to do: take your (unbagged) lights to Mom's Organic Market (925 Easton Rd., Abington PA 19001, 267-341-1550) and put them in the marked bin near the front entrance. You can also contact Janet Bischoff, and she will deliver your lights to Mom's. Call her at 215-543-0494 to make arrangements.

Mom's is accepting old holiday lights from now until January 31. Nationally, Mom's customers diverted 17 tons of holiday lights from the landfill last year! This is a good way of caring for creation, and we're grateful for the opportunity to join in.

Annual Reports

Annual reports from all staff, council and committee members, circles, ministries and groups (including but not limited to Oktoberfest, Social Ministry, Sunday School, Fair Trade, Financial Secretary, Memorial Garden, etc.) are due on Friday, January 5th, 2024 in order for the document to be compiled and published at least three weeks prior to the upcoming Congregational meeting. Not sure if you need to do one or what to include? Please note that submissions may be edited for grammar and syntax errors, and formatting for continuity throughout the report. Contact Christina Garcia at 215-844-3005 or cgarcia@stpaulsglenside.org for a copy of last year's report.

Food Pantry Update!

Thank you for your continued support of our food pantry. Please keep it in mind as you prepare for Christmas this year. We need: beverages (juices/coffee/tea); baking staples (oil, flour, sugar, spices/extracts), boxed potatoes and stuffing, canned or individual servings of fruit, oatmeal; pancake mix & syrup; spices; condiments; spaghetti/tomato sauce; peanut butter & jelly; toiletries; paper products; and snacks. In addition, donations of gift cards to be used for Christmas Turkeys and Hams are always appreciated. Thank you.

Mark Your Calendars!

Dear members and friends of St. Paul's,

On November 1, 2023 St. Paul's switched to a new giving website. This is still powered by Vanco and existing donors will keep their login credentials. The new look is much easier to navigate and we invite feedback on what other pictures or categories we should consider adding. Thanks for your support of our ministry. It is greatly appreciated.

Here is a QR code that will lead you directly to the online portal or you can go to stpaulsglenside.org and hit the donate button.

From the Heart

Dear Dot and the Good Works Team,

Thank you for supporting Lutheran Settlement House and the children, adults and families we serve. Your gift of $150 spreads hope and joy, and helps our clients find safety, compassion and healing. Your commitment makes a difference in people's lives, people like Devon.

Devon came to Lutheran Settlement House after leaving an abusive relationship. She was new to the city and looking for a community to help her heal from the abuse and chart a new course for her future. "I knew I needed to get my mental health in order to catapult forward." And catapult forward, she did. With support from her counselor and case manager, within a few months, Devon repaired her credit, created a resume and found safe housing.

After Devon had a place to call home, she was able to focus on other goals, including her career. "I found that the people who helped me throughout my journey were the people I really wanted to be like. Because who I am today, I'm very, very proud of. "

Today Devon is a children's health case manager and member of Lutheran Settlement House's Survivor's Network where she uses her experience to educate healthcare providers, researchers and students about domestic violence.

Helping people define their future is at the heart of our work. As a donor, you remind our clients that in the most vulnerable moments of their lives, they are not alone. Thank you for being there for Lutheran Settlement House; we are honored to have you as a part of our family.

Thank you so much for all of the support you've given to those we serve. I hope you're getting ready to have a joyful holiday season.

Sincerely,

David Chiles
